Why You Should Attend

Companies have always used licensing to obtain technology and content outside their core areas or at lower cost, and/or to monetize their own offerings. In the current era of falling budgets and the need to replace lost revenue, this has become more important than ever. Whether licensing patents, copyrights, trade secrets or trademarks, the ability to structure, draft and negotiate complex license agreements is critical to a successful transaction. This program is designed to address some of the more complex as well as practical issues that arise in drafting and negotiating IP licenses. The program will feature updates on current legal developments, best practices, negotiating frequently contested issues, identifying and avoiding common pitfalls, keeping the relationship on track, litigation planning and avoidance, and ethics. The speakers will illustrate both outside counsel and in-house perspectives.

What You Will Learn

• Learn how to draft patent and technology licenses
• Understand critical issues regarding software licensing and open source licenses
• Obtain pointers for strategic alliances and other joint development agreements
• Receive guidelines for trade secret licensing
• Analyze important issues in international licensing
• Get guidance on copyright, content, and trademark licensing
• Master negotiation strategies

Special Features

• In-depth panel discussion of a complex technology license
• In-depth mock negotiation of a complex content license
• Treatment of IP licenses in bankruptcy
• Earn ethics credit

Who Should Attend

This advanced program is focused on those who already have experience in the substantive area of intellectual property law, and who devote a substantial amount of their practice to licensing.
